Accreditation Visit Slated for February; Team to Evaluate Teacher Preparation

For the third time in little more than a year, Cardinal Stritch College will be evaluated by a major accrediting agency when the National Council for Accreditation of Teacher Education sends its visitation team to the campus, Feb. 3-5.

The NCATE team of nine professional educators, headed by Rev. Bernard Meiring, Associate Professor, Department of Education, St. Joseph's College, Rensselaer, Ind., will review all aspects of Stritch's teacher education programs — at both the undergraduate and graduate levels.

Preparation for NCATE's evaluation of the college's programs are being coordinated by Mrs. Patricia Wolfe, Education Department head, with assistance from other faculty and administrative personnel.

Other Evaluations Made

Earlier visitations were conducted by Wisconsin's Department of Public Instruction, in December, 1973, and the North Central Association of Colleges and Secondary Schools, in April, 1974. In both instances, official approval was granted.

SUMMER SESSION

The 1975 summer session at Cardinal Stritch College is scheduled from June 23 through August 1. Many graduate courses and basic undergraduate offerings will be available — as well as special workshops.

Copies of the Summer School Schedule may be requested by writing to the Registrar, Cardinal Stritch College, 6801 N. Yates Rd., Milwaukee, Wis. 53217.

From Our President

I have been invited to contribute a message to Stritch '75 during the coming year. Let me begin by extending to you and yours best wishes for God's blessings in the New Year — from Stritch's faculty and staff.

We are hoping and praying to have a successful year on campus in 1975, despite threatening conditions of the nation's economy and their relationship to our current operations and student recruitment.

On the one hand, inflation is pushing up our costs — like yours — and on the other, limited employment opportunities make it increasingly difficult for a student to "work his way through school" today.

Fortunately, students who live in this state are able to participate in the Wisconsin Tuition Grant Program — which helps to defray the cost of their undergraduate education at our independent colleges. We hope these benefits will remain available and be improved.

Meanwhile, to help the college's recruitment efforts, you are urged to tell the "Stritch story" to others and to put us in touch with qualified young men and women. Thank you.

Sister Camille

Presidential Inauguration Program Held; Celebration Features Informal Reception

Sr. M. Camille Kliebhan was formally installed as president of Cardinal Stritch College on Sat., Nov. 16, during an hour-long Presidential Inauguration Program held in Serra Hall. Over 500 persons attended this historic event.

Speakers included: the Most Rev. Leo Brust, D.D., Auxiliary Bishop of Milwaukee; Sr. Leandra Eckelkamp,

In response, Sister Camille delivered her inaugural address — expressing appreciation to her family, her OSF Congregation, the many visiting dignitaries from other colleges, universities, and professional associations, and to Stritch's "family" of faculty, staff, students, alumni, and friends.

Reception Follows Inauguration

The Presidential Inauguration — which featured an impressive academic procession of faculty and visiting educators — was followed by a reception in Clare Hall lounge. Among others in the receiving line with Sister Camille were: her parents, Mr. and Mrs. Alfred S. Kliebhan, and her two sisters, Mrs. Marilyn Meyer, of St. Petersburg, Fla., and Sr. Joanne Marie, head of the college's Special Education Department.

'Holy Year' Pilgrimage Planned for Next July

Sr. M. Frederick Lochemes will conduct a Holy Year Tour of Rome, Yugoslavia, Greece, and the Islands from July 6-26, 1975. The 22-day pilgrimage during the "Year of Reconciliation" will be coordinated through the Bancroft Travel Service.

Sister Frederick is a member of the History Dept. faculty, college placement director, and Mothers Club moderator. Assisting her on the tour will be Sr. M. Magdeleine Mueller.

Stritch Board Meets

At St. Coletta School

To acquaint its members with laboratory facilities available to Stritch students, the college's Board of Directors toured the St. Francis Children's Activity and Achievement Center before its September meeting.

The Board held a dinner-meeting in November at St. Coletta School, Jefferson — through the courtesy of Sr. Sheila Haskett, administrator of the institution.

College's Applied Music Pedagogy Major Represents Innovative Effort in Wisconsin

In response to a need confirmed by the Independent Music Teachers Forum of the Music Teachers National Association, which cites "a definite need for more emphasis on pedagogy in colleges . . . a need to create more interest in private teaching and guiding students toward private teaching," Stritch's Music Department has inaugurated a new four-year degree program in Applied Music Pedagogy — in the performance areas of piano, voice, classical guitar, violin, and organ.

Cardinal Stritch is the first college in Wisconsin to offer such a program.

Practical Experiences Provided

The new Applied Music Pedagogy curriculum includes the special features of (a) Guided Observation of private and group lessons in the college's Preparatory Department (Stritch Music Studios) during the freshman and sophomore years, and (b) an apprenticeship program of Studio Teaching during the junior and senior years.

In Stritch's new program, students observe teachers with years of experience and expertise, whose students perform frequently and win many local, district, state, regional, and national auditions and contests. All music faculty, including the department chairman, teach music to children and adults — in addition to their college teaching.

At the Stritch Music Studios, all new pupils, whether beginners or transferees, are tested to determine their potential and "where they are — musically," in order to work more effectively with them. The Music Department faculty believes that the beginner needs the best teacher.

"There are many private piano, voice, and guitar teachers around, but not many who have been adequately trained," according to Sr. Romana Hertel, department head. "Too many children are 'turned off' from music and their music potential spoiled, if not ruined, by poor teaching in their early years."

Music Pedagogy Curriculum Told

Students in the Applied Music Pedagogy program take eight semesters of Applied Music, from four to six Musicianship (Theory) courses, four courses in Music History and Literature, two courses in Teaching Methods and Materials of their major performance area, one course in the Literature of their performance area, and a course in Child Psychology — plus some liberal arts courses.

In addition to observing private teaching, college music students also have opportunities to observe children's pre-piano classes, Dalcroze, and music classes for mentally handicapped children.

Scholarship Winners Named for Next Fall

Five Wisconsin high school seniors have been named as the three winners of Stritch's competitive scholarships — and their first two alternates — for 1975-76.

Debra Ann Brost, North High School, Sheboygan, qualified for the first-place grant worth $1,000. Jodie Nowotny, Hamilton H.S., Milwaukee, and Catherine Bichler, James Madison H.S., Milwaukee, were second- and third-place winners, respectively, of scholarships worth $500 each.

Camilla Bernauer, Kohler H.S., Kohler, and Teresa Esser, Kettle Moraine H.S., Wales, qualified as alternates should any of the first three winners be unable to accept the grants.

Male Enrollment Grows

When Cardinal Stritch College was reorganized in 1970 and became coeducational in all divisions, a new era began on campus. While the Graduate Division had accepted male students since 1956, only a few men had been admitted to undergraduate courses over the years — as “special” enrollments. Hence, the first 20 fellows who enrolled full-time and 36 others who attended part-time, literally, made history at Stritch.

College records show combined enrollments of males in the Undergraduate and Graduate Divisions have grown steadily as follows: 1971-72 — 97 out of 833 full- and part-time students, or 11.6%; 1972-73 — 131 out of 885 students, or 14.8%; 1973-74 — 169 out of 998, or 16.9%; and 1974-75 — 180 out of 1,109, or 16.2. %

This year, 89 of 465 full-time undergraduates (or 19.1%) are men.

Recent Accomplishments Cited

Stritch's male students have made their presence felt — gradually and positively — at the college. For example: (a) two of this year's “Who's Who” candidates are men; (b) the Student Government Association president is a religious Brother; (c) the head of the Home Economics Club is a man; and (d) members of the varsity basketball team, of course, and some members of the Genesian Players (drama), Stritch Minstrels (chorus), CSC News staff, and other student organizations are males.

However encouraging the present growth may be . . . it is not without problems. The need for male housing is a prime example, for Stritch is hard-pressed to find suitable living accommodations for men from outside Milwaukee. Thus, the matter is under study.
